NEWS FOR VETERANS

For the benefit of sons and daughters of veterans who have died as a result of military service, and their guardians, who are interested in the war orphans education program provided by Public Law 634 of the 84th Congress, Veterans Administration provided the following questions and answers:

Q. Just what is the war orphans' education program?

A. It is a program of financial aid of young men and women whose parents—World War I, World War II or Korea veterans—died of injuries resulting from their military service.

Q. What is the purpose of the program?

A. The purpose, as stated in the law, is to give these young people an opportunity to get the education they otherwise might have obtained, had their parents lived.

Q. Under what conditions must the veteran's death have occurred, in order for his son or daughter to be eligible for schooling?

A. The veteran must have died of a disease or injury incurred or aggravated in line of duty in active military service. Further, if death occurred after military service, the veteran must have been discharged under other than dishonorable conditions.

Q. How old must the deceased veteran's children be to receive educational benefits?

A. Generally they must be between 18 and 23 years of age.

Q. Is it possible for a person to start school before age 18?

A. Yes, if he has quit or graduated from high school, is above the age of compulsory school attendance in his state, and VA finds it would be in his best interest to commence training before he reached age 18.

About The Home

By Frances Dell

If you want quick color for your flower border or window box, try coleus. The foliage will make a perfect highlight for a border, window box or terrace planter.

The leaves are like velvet, brocade, India prints or paisley. There is a wide range of bright, clear colors from pink, rose, bright yellow-green, and salmon, to bronze, deep purple, mahogany, rust and magneta.

These plants are easy to grow from seed. The first leaves to form will be bright green, but don't worry after three or four have formed on the first shoot, the leaves will take on adult coloring.

Your favorite colors can be insured by taking cuttings for rootings. These cuttings will root readily anytime during the year.

Coleus can be brought inside during the winter. Sit them in a bright south window.

Coleus foliage does well for winter bouquets. Try pressing it between absorbent paper or placing it upside down in a box and covering it with borax until completely dry.

UNSCHEDULED DRILL

Helena, Mont.- Military police of the Montana National Guard were recently forced to go through an unscheduled gas warfare drill. A family of skunks had taken shelter under their barracks and had to be routed with tear gas.

Just the Thing

A Los Angeles factory is making false hems to give skirts that new look. Ought to be just the thing to go with this phony prosperity. —St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Hardly

A trade journal says hit tunes are not determined by the public's taste in music but are forced to the top by planned "plugging." The public could hardly have been paid a nicer compliment. —Arkansas Gazette.

False Pretenses

A Kansas City man received a severe scolding from a pair of bandits who found only 50 cents on him when they held him up. He was released with a warning to carry more money hereafter. —Kansas City Star.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but lovin g remembrance of our husband and father, Lacy K. Almond, who departed this life one year ago, Sept. 19.

This year for us has been blue,
There is an empty space no one can fill.
More and more each day we miss you.

Friends may think the wound is healed;
No one knows the sorrow that is in our heart concealed.

It wasn't a shock,
We knew the end was near;
But we still wanted you here.

Peaceful, sleeping, resting at last,
Your hard life of trials and troubles are past.
In silence you suffered,
With patience you bore
Until God called you to suffer no omre.
—Sadly missed by wife, children and grandchildren.

VA. TRAFFIC DEATHS SHOWING DECLINE

Richmond, Va.- Sparked by a better than 50 per cent reduction in traffic deaths during the Labor Day week-end, Virginia completed the summer "Slow Down and Live" campaign with 27 less deaths than during the similar period of 1955, despite a rise in traffic volumes of more than 4 per cent, Colonel C. W. Woodson, Jr., Superintendent of State Police and Chairman of the Governor's Highway Safety Committee announced today.

Sponsored by the National Conference of State Safety Coordinators, the campaign was staged on a national basis with the governors of all 48 states jointly signing an official proclamation of endorsement. Running from Memorial Day through Labor Day week-end, activities were aimed against speed and other "in a hurry violations" as improper passing, failur to yield right of way and following too close.

An additional point noted was to the effect that the nation appears headed towards at least 40,000 deaths for 1956, which will top the record breaking 39,969 of 1941.

Virginia, on the other hand, now has a chance of reducing her toll of 879 in 1955.

The Oscar-winning film, "Marty," which was produced at a cost of only $319,000, is expected to make close to $5,000,000.
